1900-1940's Pressed

Introduction

At the turn of the 20th century during the industrial revolution, wrought (pressed) hardware was introduced. Made by machine, this hardware required less material and labor; therefore, it was less expensive than heavy cast hardware previously available.

At the end of the Victorian era more patterns were made with simple lines and very little ornamentation. We have included our New York, Bungalow, Mission, and Arched patterns in this section.

The back plate sets are all compatible with pre-bored modern doors and are available in both passage and privacy tubular latch functions.
